Government should function the same way.	GEORGE J. HARTMAN 376 First Street, Northville, MI, 48167 Oversized government, excessive taxation, decreased populations and decay of the business community are issues which need to be addressed if Wayne County is to thrive. The taxpayers of this county are paying a greater percentage of their reduced incomes in taxes to support a county system that has grown too large. The system needs to be corrected. County government needs to function more efficiently to reduce the tax burden on the residents, businesses and taxpayers. Private industry has gone through a significant restructuring and it is time for government to do the same. A review of county spending needs to be conducted and non-essential spending eliminated. All aspects of county spending need to be investigated and reduced wherever possible. Reducing the tax burden on businesses and residents will stimulate economic growth in the county. This business growth is essential to the economic survival of the area. We need to work to keep our business community healthy. Property taxes need to be brought into line with the depressed property values to help encourage development and additional growth in the county. This will make property and business investment in the county more attractive.
